Parents:

We believe God's design for a healthy family begins with a deep commitment to love and support one another unconditionally. By valuing the home, growing in faith together, and following God's principles for life we believe that our family will experience the very best God has for us. We will remain committed to encourage our children to be everything God wants them to be. We believe that family is one of the greatest treasures that can be given to an individual, and we pledge to honor and protect the members of our family through any obstacles that may come their way. We will thank God daily for our family.

Kids:

We believe God has given us a family that loves us as Jesus loves us. We commit to honoring our mom, dad, or guardian by obeying them, trusting them, and listening to their wisdom and guidance as God's Word guides them.

Married Parents:

We commit as a couple to love and cherish each other all the days of our life. We will honor and place each other above all other people in our life. We promise to learn about God's truth so that our relationship will remain a Christ-like example to each other and to our children. We promise to find God's best for our lives. We promise to love and care for each other and our family all the days of our life.

Single Parents:

We are committed to raising our children with godly principles so they can be guided to live a life of hope and fulfillment. We know as single parents we may face different challenges, yet we will love each other in spite of our circumstances. We promise to always make it a point to have fun together, laugh together, and connect with each other no matter how demanding life can be. We believe God will meet every one of our needs, and that He has a special purpose and plan for our lives.

Families:

We are committed as a family to make our home a place where God is honored. We commit to love each other by spending quality time together, listening to each other, caring for each other, and respecting each. We recognize that our family is God's gift to us and we will hold it close to our hearts and never let it go. We ask for God's wisdom and direction as our family experiences the many adventures of life together.
